How to Download NSW Property Sales Data

Simple step-by-step instructions

Website

Open this website: https://nswpropertysalesdata.com/

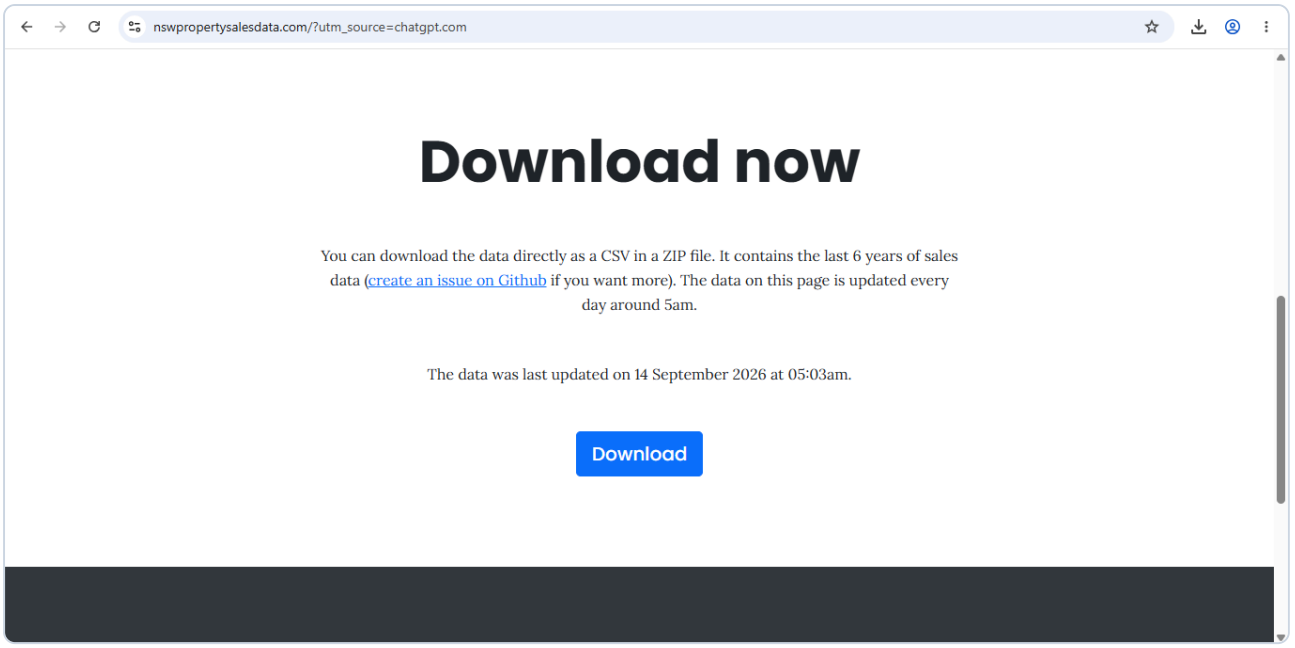

Screenshot 1: Website home page. Click the Download button at the top-right to open the download section.

About this Data Portal

This portal offers free access to official New South Wales property sales records extracted directly from the Valuer General's Property Sales Information (PSI) database. It eliminates the need for manual web scraping or costly subscription services.

Download the CSV ZIP file

1. Scroll down to the "Download now" section of the website.

Screenshot 2: Download section. The page says the data is provided as a CSV inside a ZIP file and covers the last six years. It also says the data is updated daily.

2. Click the blue Download button shown in the screenshot.
3. Wait for the ZIP file to finish downloading.
4. In Chrome, press Ctrl + J to open Downloads. Find the ZIP file.
5. Right-click the ZIP file and choose Extract All.
6. Open the extracted folder and find the .csv file.
7. Keep the original ZIP and CSV file safely. Use a separate copy for cleaning or processing.

After downloading

- Open the CSV in Excel or read it with Python.
- Check the column names and transaction dates.
- Make sure the file opens correctly and contains data.
- Note the download date so you know which version you used.

Important

The website says the data covers the last six years and is updated daily. Check the website again when downloading because the date range and data may change. Read the website's current terms before sharing the data or using it commercially.